You can't get there from hereVon Ein KundeThe gap in understanding between cultures, a theme of "The Sheltering Sky," is dramatized with brutal honesty in this novel set in Fez, Morocco during a 1954 nationalist uprising. Totally relevant to today's political situation in the Middle East and elsewhere, richly descriptive of its setting, and uncompromising in its characterizations2 von 3 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. minded peopleVon Ein KundeI read this book because I had read Paul Bowles' "The Sheltering Sky" and I found his style of writing to be poetic and enchanting. I am glad I read it because of the open and complex portrayal it gave of a culture often misunderstood by Americans. Paul Bowles should be considered a classic American author. It's too bad he's not more well known.

KurzbeschreibungSet in Fez, Morocco, during that country's 1954 nationalist uprising, The Spider's House is perhaps Paul Bowles's most beautifully subtle novel, richly descriptive of its setting and uncompromising in its characterizations. To Amar, a young Moslem, they are enticing, and as the rebellion grows he believes he is helped by knowing the inner feelings of others.
