BRILLIANT!Von Anna SalamatinThis is a light, funny sweet romantic story about Emma Brewster who is a witch. She comes from a long line of witches, all of whom have a very special power. They are all fire starters! This power manifests itself differently for each of them. For Emma, eveytime she is near a man that she feels an attraction for, her fingertips shoot out fire! So needless to say, she leads a pretty solitary life which includes her two cats. Midnight, her familiar and Mika, a familiar in training, Her life long best friends, Kathy and her older brother Paul who both know her secret.....This is all about to change when Emma meets the newest member of the fire fighters in town.....You know that old saying about sparks flying? well.....wait until you read what goes on here, lol! and OMG! when Aunt Ernestine gets into the act with her crystal gazing ball and spells start flying around, let's just say it gets pretty hot for Cas Emma!..But of course there has to be a trouble maker in every neighborhood and this one is Old Miss Crabtree who happens to live right across the street from Emma. It seems that she won't be happy until she rids the world of the witch Emma, and she has a plot to do just that....but the big question is, what is the secret that Cas has been hiding, in fact running from that brought him to their little town in the first place?....I had a great time reading this non stop action packed, laugh a minute story. I highly recommend it and I'm so glad Mary let me read it in exchange for my review. I made out on this deal!

KurzbeschreibungEmma Brewster comes from a long line of Brewster witches and she is not only a witch but a fire-starter witch. She is suppose to be able to control that element but so far she cant control much of anything when she comes in contact with a handsome man.Now why is she always bumping into that new, handsome man who just so happens to be a Fire Fighter. She has taken to wearing colored contacts and sunglasses, even on cloudy days so her eyes dont see him that clearly but he always seems to be around. Boy is he hot and oh drats there goes another fire cropping up!Cas OHalloran came to this suppose sleepy town to get away from the big city life, except once he bumped into that beautiful redheaded woman on that rainy morning at the bagel shop, his life has been anything but normal or low keyed. His Chief said there have been more unexplained little fires since his arrival than anytime in the history Cadwell Harbor. This once sleepy, picturesque town is constantly on fire. So Cas wants to find out why, but he also wants to find out why of all women he is attracted to this red-head who wears sunglasses on rainy, cloudy days and if thats not bad enough, he feels electrified and alive when he touches her.Cadwell Harbor will never see a quiet Halloween again if Emma Brewster and Cas OHalloran have anything to do with it. Nor will it be left standing if those two dont settle down one way or another.KurzbeschreibungEmma Brewster comes from a long line of Brewster witches and she is not only a witch but a fire-starter witch. My office window looks out onto trees that at this moment are turning beautiful colors. I have cats who sometimes show up in my books. A demented chihuahua named Max that has also shown up in one of my books. I love to read and I have to write. Too many days of not writing tends to make me crabby. I love hearing from my readers.
