Von Karyn Monk : Every Whispered Word before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Every Whispered Word:

KundenrezensionenHilfreichste Kundenrezensionen2 von 2 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. Great addition to the series.Von Detra FitchLady Camelia "Tisha" Marshall is an archaeologist, like her father before her.

She continues her father's work at their dig site, Pumulani ("Poo Moo Lanee"), in South Africa. She searches for the legendary Tomb of Kings. She is accompanied by Zareb, her African best friend who has guided and watched over her since she arrived in Africa at the tender age of ten. Lately, many "accidents" have rocked her site. The workers begin to believe the site is cursed. The rainy months have flooded the site and no one will sell or lease Tisha a steam pump to get rid of it, due to a monopoly by the De Beers Company who wishes to purchase Tisha's land from her. Her only hope is to travel to London, locate the brilliant inventor Simon Kent, and persuade him to part with the new type of pump he has invented. Of course, Zareb goes with her. So does Rupert (a two and a half foot long tiger snake), Harriet (a neurotic Grey Lourie bird), and Oscar (a mischievous, undisciplined monkey). Simon Kent did not hear the banging on his front door and would not have answered it even if he had. When inventing, Simon loses himself in his work. But when he turned around there she was, uninvited in his laboratory talking about a business proposition. Simon has too many inventions going on to consider stopping to help, no matter how beautiful and intelligent the odd lady is. He could not see how digging up old bones could possibly help the world. But someone out there does. Someone that will go to dangerous lengths to stop her, as well as anyone associated with her. Needless to say, Simon is soon traveling with Tisha and her strange companions to South Africa.***** Simon is one of the charming band of street urchins that was first introduced in "The Prisoner". That novel was followed by "The Wedding Escape" and "My Favorite Thief". Author Karyn Monk has endeared herself to thousands, if not millions, of readers by telling the love story of some of the now grown street urchins. Simon's tale is just as riveting as the others too! I found that I was unable to pull myself away for long. Tisha's animal friends often stole the show with their delightful antics and obvious intelligence. I did not want the story to end. I am counting the days until this author's next release. *****Reviewed by Detra Fitch of Huntress Reviews.

Now her readers can look forward to EVERY WHISPERED WORD, the fourth book in this charming series featuring Genevieve MacPhail and her band of wayward, street savvy young men and women who turn Victorian England into their playground for romantic adventure.Filled with charm and humor, EVERY WHISPERED WORD, is Karyn Monk's passionate new romance of a proud English noblewoman and an unconventional young, once orphaned, inventor, and a love that defies all odds.From the Paperback edition.From BooklistLady Camelia Marshall won't take no for an answer, so when Simon Kent refuses to sell her the design for a new type of steam-powered pump she must have to excavate her late father's archaeological site in South Africa, she simply "borrows" it. Once Simon discovers exactly what she has done, he sets out after her, only to find Camelia being threatened by thieves. After rescuing her, Simon discovers that all of his inventions have been destroyed. Concerned for Camelia's safety, Simon decides to build her a pump, never expecting that after spending just a little time with this delightfully original woman, he would be offering to accompany her on further adventures. An excellent sense of characterization, a captivatingly crafted and danger-laced plot, a deliciously exotic setting, and a superbly sensual love story all come together splendidly in the fourth in Monk's dazzling series of loosely connected historical romances.
