Fantastic Space EricVon NSWATExodus is the third book in this series, and it was hard to put down. a fascinating world that developed after the near extinction of mankind. Dandridge really brings life to the characters, but also to the technology of the distant future. Almost makes you believe that the story is real. Cant wait for the fourth installment0 von 0 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. Good SFVon A. NeurathOne of the best sf series i have read in the last years. Hope there are many more books to come.

KurzbeschreibungThey're Back, and They want to End us.The Ca'cadasan Empire is at the gates, and they mean to destroy the human race. But we will not go quietly into the night.The saga continues, as Sean Ogden Lee Romanov finds himself the uncrowned leader of the New Terran Empire. After two thousand years the old enemy has found them, but the humans are no longer the technologically inferior species they once were. A thousand years of Empire has forged a mighty military that has never lost a war. The Ca'cadasans are still slightly ahead in tech, are much larger, and have never failed in a conquest. There is dissension within as Parliament wants to put their own man in charge, and Sean is woefully unprepared for the task that awaits him. Time is running out, and if the Empire and the species are to survive the new man must be installed and humanity must rally behind him. New technologies are on the horizon, the technologies on which the course of the war could turn, for better or worse. War rages across the stars on a Galactic scale. The third book of a series that will span over a century of time and tens of thousands of light years of space. Grand Science Fiction in the legacy of Weber and Ringo.Action packed science fiction on a grand scale. Scroll up and grab a copy today. Check out Free Short Stories at my website, MitwirkendeBiography Doug Dandridge was born in Venice Florida in 1957, the son of a Florida native and a Mother of French Canadian descent. An avid reader from an early age, Doug has read most of the classic novels and shorts of Science Fiction and Fantasy, as well as multiple hundreds of historical works. Doug has military experience including Marine Corps JROTC, Active Duty Army, and the Florida National Guard. He attended Florida State University, studying Biology, Geology, Physics, and Chemistry, and receiving a BS in Psychology. Doug then studied Clinical Psychology at the University of Alabama, with specific interests in Neuropsychology and Child Psychology, completing a Masters and all course work required for a PhD. He has worked in Psychiatric Hospitals, Mental Health Centers, a Prison, a Juvenile Residential Facility, and for the past five years for the Florida Department of Children and Families. Doug has been writing on and off for fifteen years. He concentrates on intelligent science fiction and fantasy in which there is always hope, no matter how hard the situation. No area of the fantastic is outside his scope, as he has completed works in near and far future Science Fiction, Urban and High Fantasy, Horror, and Alternate History.
