ber den Autor und weitere MitwirkendeCharacters and stories unfold within me whether I write or not. So I write! I love to dream the impossible and bring magic into the mundane. I believe beauty can be found in the most difficult of moments and humor keeps us sane in the midst of chaos. My characters are fantastic creatures that open our senses and let us see the world in a new way. Yet they are like any of us with strengths and weaknesses, struggles and triumphs, and sometimes they simply want to survive what life throws at them. When typing a conversation feels more like transcribing than creating and the words flow naturally from their lips, I know Ive successfully breathed life into the characters. Whether living in a cabin in the woods or a city apartment, Idahos wilderness is my home. The wilds are true civilization, and its inhabitants my sisters and brothers. I am most content with open sky above me, trees surrounding me, and feet bare against the earth. If you want to know how I feel about the wilds, look through Billie's eyes. She got it from me. I live a simple life. Friends, family, art, writing, and community are my world. The homes in my stories are oftentimes decorated with pieces inspired by local artists who have inspired me. I enjoy herbs and herb lore and spend time in the deserts and mountains around me.
