end. Cute, but missing depth.

Kurzbeschreibung"Another hilarious book by Erin Brady! She's one of the few authors that actually makes me laugh out loud!" ~Stacey G
Maggie Andrew has a problem. She needs to convince Richard, her attorney boyfriend of five years, that hes finally ready for a commitment. How? By planning an unforgettable night starting with a romantic dinner for two and ending in the bedroom. And to help things along, Maggie has spent half of her salary on sexy black lingerie from Crandalls Department Store that Richard wont be able to resist. Except, once home, Maggie realizes she has someone elses shopping bag and instead of her very expensive lingerie, shes stuck with a housecoat that wouldnt turn anyones head, least of all Richards. When Maggie goes back to the scene of the swap, she runs into Benjamin Saunders, a tall, dark and handsome stranger, who not only has what she wants but may also turn out to have what she needs. Suddenly what Maggie thinks she has with Richard is called into question and shes not sure of anything.-----"Wildly funny and a breath of fresh air! I love books that make me laugh out loud. Maggie is a great character. Another winner by Erin Brady!"Sarah Price, Best-Selling Author
