It isn't perfect but some parts of it are excellentVon Kindle CustomerThe second book is equally enjoyable than the first. Some things are going a little too fast for me and the amount of power the AI gain in this war without anybody thinking twice is alarming. But i hope this will not fire back in the future. I just finished this and jumped with Kurz aber um so besserVon CustomerDiese 4-teilige Sci-Fi Serie ist toll fr alle knallharte Sci-Fi und Militr-/Kriegsroman Fans. Die Story ist vom Anfang bis Ende spannend, jedoch das Ende des vierten Buches habe ich schnell erreicht. Der Roman lsst sich leicht lesen und verstehen, insb. auf Englisch kommt fr mich die Story richtig rber.0 von 0 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. Interessante IdeenVon Arno Grabnerdie nachvollziehbar sind und trotzdem spannend! Die unterschiedlichen A.I. Charaktere geben dieser Serie noch eine besondere und spezielle Note! Die beiden ersten Bcher der Serie haben mir sehr gut gefallen und ich hoffe der kommenden Bcher dieser Serie bleiben auf gleich hohem Niveau!

KurzbeschreibungThe unprovoked war with a mysterious alien race is going badly. Minor tactical victories are offset by major strategic setbacks. The aliens know where all Human-occupied worlds are while their own worlds are still unknown. Victor Shiloh's unpredictable precognitive visions are the only thing that is slowly the alien onslaught. Not content with gradually pushing Humanity back, Shiloh's vision reveals a massive attack on Earth, that will have terrible consequences. So far his visions have all come true. Can his A.I. allies make the difference between extermination and survival for the Human Race? Excerpt:He woke up to the blaring of the ships Battle Stations siren with Tanakas excited voice calling him via his implant.Bridge to Commander! Theyre here, Sir! Repeattheyre here Shiloh shook himself awake and started to get up. Im awake, Sumi. Whats happening? He was glad he decided to sleep in his uniform for just this kind of emergency. Jump detection contacts! Lots of them! When he was sure that she wasnt going to say more, he said.From what bearing? ALL of them! Theyre coming at us from 360 degrees and all three axes! The near panic in her voice shocked him. By this time, he was running down the corridor to the Bridge. She was already vacating the Command Station chair when he entered the Bridge. Before she could relinquish command, he said in a loud voice. The XO still has the Con. XO, take the Helm station; Ill look after the fighters! She looked at him with wide eyes but nodded and stepped over to the Helm Station. As he got himself strapped into his chair, he quickly switched com channels to the open channel with the Nimitz Base. Nimitz, this is Shiloh! Order your recons to active scanning! Without waiting for a reply, he switched to the fighter com channel. By prior arrangement, DeChastelaine had agreed to let Shiloh take tactical command of her fighters too. CAG to fighters! Launch your recons and go active! Lightem up! We need to see their vectors and speeds! If you have a viable intercept solution, take the shot! By now he was strapped in and had time to actually look at the tactical display. Tanaka was right. Red triangles indicating jump emergence points were all around the planet as well as above and below it. There was something about this strategy that made the hair on the back of his neck stand up. Concentration of force was a key tactical concept that should theoretically be valid to any species. There was strength in numbers and it minimized communication lags. So why was this alien fleetthis alien, A.I.-controlled fleet behaving this way? They must know that they risked being picked off one at a time. He didnt have an answer to his question andno vision either. Task Force Leader on Tac 4, Sir! yelled the com tech. Shiloh switched over to that com channel and said. Shiloh here. Go ahead Task Force Leader! As he spoke he searched the display to find the four combat frigates. They were following standard doctrine and were in close formation orbiting the Nimitz Base moon.Victor! Get your fighters into action! Shiloh suppressed his surge of anger. Task Force Leader Sobrist and he were both Senior Commanders. The deployment order from HQ on Sol had placed all ships in the Avalon system under the authority of Sobrist BUT it also made it clear that when Shiloh was wearing his Commander Autonomous Group hat, he had sole discretion on how to use those fighters. Not only was Sobrists urging that Shiloh get the fighters into action a completely unnecessary stating of the obvious but it was also a distraction that Shiloh as the CAG didnt need right now. Ive already issued orders to them to he stopped talking as the tactical display was updated with the first results of the recon drones active scans. They had all the incoming enemy ships on radar now and he was stunned by their speeds. 27,552 kilometers per second.KurzbeschreibungThe unprovoked war with a mysterious alien race is going badly.
